Re: Constitution Day Letters

Dear Ms. McGinn,

I was very impressed with your students and the letters they wrote me. I wanted to make sure that all of their questions got answered, so I've written a letter back to each of them. While I attempted to answer their individual questions at the end of the letters, each letter has a similar body as follows:

Thank you so much for writing me about the Constitution Day activity. I think that learning about our jury system is very important because all of us will have the chance to be on juries sooner or later.

I was very impressed with the attention and energy of all of the students in Ms. McGinn's class and very much appreciated learning what you thought about our activity together. Our United States Constitution is one of the things that makes America so special and I'm glad I had a chance to talk with you about it. There probably will be more amendments to the Constitution during your lifetime so it is never too early to think about what makes our democracy the best in the world.

Did you know that Patrick Henry famously said, "Give me liberty or give me death!" in 1775? Early Americans fought for the Constitution to have freedom from the injustice of the British king. By learning about the Constitution, you can continue to promote freedom for America and, even better, for Planet Earth.

If you could pass these on to them, I would appreciate it.

Thank you for being so helpful to me on Constitution Day and I hope you have a great rest of the school year.

Sincerely,

Matthew Krichbaum
